History of the NDA

100th Anniversary of the Nordic Dermatology Association

Torbjörn Egelrud

Department of Public Health and Clinical Medicine, Dermatology and Venereology, Umeå University, SE-901 85 Umeå, Sweden. E-mail: torbjorn.egelrud@dermven.umu.se

With 59 registered members, the Nordic Dermatology Association (NDA) was founded at the first Nordic Dermatology Congress, held on 17–19 May 1910 in Copenhagen. The initiative had been taken by the dermatologists Kristian Grön from Norway, Carl Rasch from Denmark, and Edvard Welander from Sweden when they met at the International Dermatology Congress in Berlin in 1904. The aim of the association, as expressed in its statutes, was to promote Nordic cooperation in scientific, educational and clinical aspects of dermatology and venereology, mainly by arranging congresses in the Nordic countries. Since then, 31 Nordic Dermatology Congresses (which from 2001 onwards have been called "Nordic Congresses of Dermatology and Venereology") have been held in Denmark, Finland, Iceland, Norway and Sweden; 8, 6, 2, 7 and 8 times, respectively. Members of the Nordic national associations of dermatology and venereology (at present 1,424 individuals) become elected members of the NDA.

A further effort to promote Nordic cooperation in dermatology and venereology was taken by Lennart Juhlin in 1996, when he started the Forum for Nordic Dermato-Venereology. At the Nordic Congress of Dermatology and Venereology in Gothenburg Forum was appointed official journal of the NDA. It was also decided to recommend that congress organizers print congress books with meeting programmes and abstracts as supplements of Forum, thereby making them widely available, not only to congress participants. The printing of congress supplements is supported financially by the NDA.

Throughout the years the "Nordic meetings", held in spring or early summer every third or fourth year have been great events. In addition to high-quality scientific and educational programmes, delegates have been offered fantastic social programmes and opportunities to learn more about neighbouring countries. And, perhaps most importantly, the congresses have facilitated interaction between individuals, which is the basis of all successful collaborations.

In addition to scientific and professional issues related to dermatology and venereology, an item that was discussed for some time was the official language of the congresses. At the meeting in Bergen in 1998 it was decided by the general assembly that at the next congress (Gothenburg, 2001) English should be used for all congress information, abstracts, slides shown in presentations, and posters. Also, that at least one concurrent session throughout the meeting should be held in English. Furthermore, it was recommended that English should be used in as many other meeting activities as possible. Since the Gothenburg meeting the official language of the NDA has, in fact, been English. Among other benefits of this timely change, we have seen an increasing number of participants at our congresses from countries outside the Nordic area.

Another question that has been raised from time to time in recent years is whether or not there is still a place for (or even a need for) NDA and Nordic congresses in dermatology and venereology. Arguments have been put forward that an organization specifically addressing Nordic issues is becoming less important in these days of increasing collaboration within the European setting. Furthermore, it has been said, there is an ever-increasing number of international meetings competing for attendees, organizers and calendar space. And, of course, there is also the European Academy of Dermatology and Venereology (EADV). Those who argue in favour of the continuation of regular Nordic meetings point to similarities among the Nordic countries in terms of healthcare systems, medical education, and therapeutic traditions. And, not least, they love to attend Nordic Congresses.

At every general assembly of the NDA at which the future of the organization and forthcoming meetings has been discussed, the majority of delegates have pronounced their support for continuation. One explanation for this outcome may be that the general assembly meets during an ongoing congress, which has so far always been a success, and that the attending delegates are already looking forward to the next Nordic Congress of Dermatology and Venereology. Only the future will tell; the next Congress is scheduled for 2012 in Finland. Exact dates and place will be announced in forthcoming issues of Forum for Nordic Dermato-Venereology.

Virtual and physical course combined. May 2022.

(5 previous courses)

Nordic course on skin surgery. Copenhagen, Denmark.

August 2022

(6 previous courses)

Nordic course on Laser Dermatology. Copenhagen, Denmark.

June 2022

(One previous course)

NDA course proposal form

The intention of the NDA courses is to provide high quality courses of practical topics, not regularly covered by national organizers, and to support Nordic networking within Dermatology and Venereology.
Any member of a Nordic dermatological society can propose a course. Pharmaceutical companies are not to be involved.

Who decides which courses are accepted?

The Educational committee reviews the proposals and recommends courses to the NDA board which makes the final decision.

The economy of the courses

First-time course organizers should submit a budget to the Educational Committee for approval. A guarantee sum from the NDA of up to 100,000 SEK is suggested for the first course in the rare case of a deficit following the course. The organizers are encouraged to repeat the course. Repeated courses should be self-funding. Any surplus goes to the organizers or organizing affiliation.

It is recommended that a professional congress organizer is hired to take care of the practical arrangements.

If you have any ideas or proposals for a new course please contact the educational committee for an informal talk

E-mail addresses are available at the NDA webpage

AUDITORS' REPORT 2019-2021

Report from the Auditors for the years 2019–2021 for the Nordic Dermatology Association

We have audited the financial information of the Nordic Dermatology Association for the years 2019–2021. This is included as a financial summary for each year. You are presented with annual profit and loss tabulation in addition to the incoming and outgoing balance each year. The auditors have reviewed all the financial transactions towards the bank statements and found no material errors. The audit has been performed according to generally acceptable principles but not to specific codes, national or international regulations.

In our opinion, the financial information has been prepared in material respects in a transparent and accountable manner.

MEETINGS

- Annual General Meeting
  - In March
  - In Helsinki
  - Topics of the annual symposium this year was immunodeficiencies and immunity of the skin
- Autumn meeting
  - In November
  - Location varies
  - Research session (short presentations by doctoral students)
  - Autumn symposium
    - This year in Helsinki
    - Topics are dermatological research, the new specialization curriculum, and a symposium for professor Annamari Ranki (soon to retire)
- Typically 1-2 invited foreign speakers and Finnish speakers
- Education for residents (one day) in connection with both meetings

OTHER ACTIVITIES

- National laws and regulations for specialization have changed:
  - National application of study rights and selection of residents by individual scorings and interviews (from autumn 2019)
  - Length of specialist training has changed from time-based to learning-based
- Research grants for early stage researchers and post-docs annually
- Grants to dermatological conferences NCDV, ESRD, AAD
- Skinfo journal is published twice a year
- SILY-webpages for members

MEMBERS OF THE ICELANDIC FIH

19 working members, a wide span in age, the latest specialist started last autumn
At least four in training

2 pensioned

All specialists are working “privately”

Two are part time working at the Department of Dermatology

DERMATOLOGISTS IN TRAINING

Usually 2 residents at the department.
In later years they have stayed longer and it has been harder to get a place abroad to finish off their training, still mostly in Sweden

The department delivers a good dermatologic service with a well functioning treatment facility

The most important task is to secure high quality education for D&V residents in Sweden

- Until recently, all positions for resident doctors in D&V in Sweden have been located in hospitals
- Nowadays, small practices are given the permit to educate resident doctors even though these practices have no possibility to provide these doctors with the full range of patients/procedures that we in the specialist organisation think are necessary in order to become a specialist.

Swedish Society for Dermatology and Venereology

Nummer 27 • 3/2021

Tips - Sök, skärmanpassa och dela enkelt!

Visste du att Dermatologi & Venereologi nu är ännu lättare att läsa på skärm?
Klicka bara på valfri artikel för att växla till artikelläge, där du kan ändra teckensnitt och storlek samt dela artiklar som länk, via epost eller direkt till sociala medier. Allt detta hittar du i menyn som dyker upp längst ner i artikelläget. Missa inte att arkivet dessutom är sökbart från 2019.
- skriv in vad du letar efter högst uppe till höger så får du fram alla artiklar innehållande just de orden på en gång.
